(e) Consideration of College Symbols (College Song and Flag)

1. The college plans to have its own Flag and floated a competitions for the student. The Flag selected for the college was designed by Mr. Kuntak Saha, B.Sc.(H) Microbiology I Yr and is given below:-

The flag has been designed as a tribute to the qualities of the students, the faculty, and the college as a whole. It aims to capture the uniqueness of Bhaskaracharya College of Applied Sciences through the use of certain colours, symbols, and text. Each element, colour, and text has been meticulously thought of, and the reasons for the same have been mentioned below. The explanation has been divided to define the the design into broad parts as below-

- Ratio and Size of the Flag
- The Colours of the Flag
- The Symbol
- The Text

- The Ratio and the Shape

The ratio of the flag has been chosen as 3:2 (Width: Height), which is in accordance with the ratio of our National Flag. A rectangular shape has been chosen so as to be able to design a flag that is geometrically/ bilaterally symmetrical and where each and every aspect is clearly visible from a distance. Visibility is the most important aspect of a Flag, as it is hoisted far above the ground and thus creates both distance and angle between the observer and the Flag itself. To overcome this hurdle, flags are intended to be striking in design while being highly symbolic in nature.

- The Colours of the Flag

A total of Seven colors in all have been used, traveling symmetrically from the sides toward the centre. The colours on the sides capture the broad details and the colours at the centre capture the precise ones.

- 1) White, which surrounds the flag, captures the broad essence of the college. White represents purity, knowledge, and science signifying that the flag has been crafted and designed for a science-based educational institution.
- 2) Green denotes the deep connection and love for the environment Bhaskaracharya College of Applied Sciences has always had embedded within it. The campus is lush green with an iconic green building, which adds to the uniqueness of BCAS as a college.
- 3) Gold represents excellence in academics, quality of education, and the calibre of the students of Bhaskaracharya College of Applied Sciences. It also serves as a reminder to the students and professors of Bhaskaracharya of the past, present, and future to always aim and achieve the best.
- 4) Red represents the youthfulness, energy, and passion of the college. Bhaskaracharya College of Applied Sciences is amongst the youngest constituent colleges of the University of Delhi. The passion and energy of its principal, its faculty, and its students are what assist such a young college to go traversing a path laden with laurels and recognitions such as that of the Star College Scheme by the Department of Biotechnology, Government of India.

- The Symbol

The orange-saffron symbol of the Sun with 24 rays lies at the heart of the design and is an important aspect that brings together all the other elements of the design. It is designed with the likeliness of the sun or 'भास्कर'. This helps in explaining the meaning of the name of the great scientist Bhaskaracharya and also that of the college. The Sun has been given the colour of orange towards the border signifying a Sun at dawn. This denotes that the journey of Bhaskaracharya has just begun and that it will rise and shine as time marches forward.

Saffron has been placed at the heart of the sun, which would not only give it the effect of glowing from a distance but will also stand to signify two things-

1. The ideals of strength, courage, and sacrifice that have been enshrined in our hearts and forever immortalized by the Indian National Flag.
2. It also signifies the patriotism of the college, which carries all the three colours of the Indian National Flag- Saffron, White, and Green.

The sun has been generated using specific dimensions using software by the designer himself and has not been copied from the internet. The design of this Sun is also close to traditional Indian art which uses quite a few geometric shapes. Finally, the Sun has 24 sun rays, which is a subtle reference to the Dharma Chakra/ Ashoka Chakra encapsulating the ideals of our country and the 'wheel of time'.

- The Text

The Text consists of two parts- English and Sanskrit. The English part which carries the acronym of the college has been painstakingly designed by hand to capture the essence of the college. It consists of both straight lines and curvatures which give the text both a modern and aesthetic look and a personality that is unique as this is created by the designer. Being bold, it will also be visible from afar and lastly, it can also be used with a mixture of different colours during celebrations, an extremely rough example of which has been attached below. This has been avoided in the flag as it would become illegible, but for a poster/logo/banner which is viewed from close quarters, this would look attractive. The full college name and its affiliation are self-explanatory and is written using the standard fonts available in the system.

The Sanskrit text uses the beautiful and precise motto of the College – 'ज्ञानविज्ञानसहितम्'. This text is a font and has not been created by the designer. It also makes the use of bold lettering with a modern style to make it look like the text above.

The 'ॐ' represents the creation of the universe and also represents the past, the present, and the future within one sound of the SUN as notified by NASA.

The college flag was accepted by the house and recommended due acknowledgement & appreciation to the student.

II. The College Song

The college would have its own song as written and composed by Sh. Gajender Solanki ji.
